On the cover: In the upper row, Figure a showed the filter-screened keratinocytes (KC) via 240 mu contained more larger KC without nuclei and a few of smaller nucleated cells (putative epidermal stem cell population, ESCP), Wright's stain, $\times 400$; Figure b showed the filter-screened KC via 350 mu contained more smaller nucleated cells (putative ESCP), Wright's stain, $\times 400$. In the lower row, Figure a showed the eluted ESCP via ELISA-plate showed dark-brownish color, p63 immunostaining, eosin counterstaining, $\times 1000$; Figure b showed the eluted ESCP via Sepharose 4B minicolumn showed dark-brownish color, k19 immunostaining, eosin counterstaining, $\times 1000$.
